The State League games yesterday practically decided the race for the pennant, and Richmond is the winner. There is now absolutely no doubt that the Spaul- the run. Score: ding flag will come here. The Bluebirds lead the Tobacconists by thirty-six points. and nothing short of a miracle will give them first place. Richmond has seven games to play, and Lynchburg is scheduled for seven, but expects to play two postponed games with Roznoke, making nine in all. Three of Richmond's games are with Norfolk, three with Petersburg, and one with Roanoke. If the Bluebirds win only four of the seven and the Tocacconists carry off all nine the season will close with Richmond three points ahead of Lynchburg. It is no probable that Lynchburg will win all of her games, and it is more than likely that the Bluebirds will succeed in corner ing at least five of the seven, so the 14th of September will, in all probability, roll around and find Richmond considerably more than three points ahead of the Hill City. THE THIRD PLACE.

While the race between the two leaders is going on, the fight for third place is growing more and more spirited. When Mr. Brady put a team in the field from Portsmouth it was with the avowed purpose of beating Norfolk out. It mattered not to him what place he got, so he headed the Clams. He took the lead over Norfolk early in the season, and success fully maintained it until yesterday, when the Clams forged ahead, and are now in third place, with four points to the

They come here for the next series, and will probaby be beaten, but Ports-mouth has Lynchburg to contest against, and will also probably be beaten. Thus is on in earnest. While Norfolk and Portsmouth are fighting over third place, Petersburg is coming up, and may occupy the position of the boy who ran off with the walnut while the other two fought over it. The Farmers are but fourteen points behind Portsmouth, and eighteen behind Norfolk, and as they are playing winning ball just now have an excellent fighting show to land in third place.

BEAT ROANOKE OUT AGAIN.

Bluebirds Took the Game Yesterday with Great Ease. The second game of the series between Richmond and Roanoke went, as did the first, to Richmond, by a good, big score. The "Goats" played far better than they did in the preceding game, but were "no in it" with the Bluebirds, who did some aggregate, to sixteen, which yielded twen-ty-one bases and fourteen runs. STARTED IN EARNEST.

The run-making did not commence until the second inning, but it commenced then in earnest, and was continued through to in earnest, and was continued through to the ninth, when five runners trotted over the ninth, when five runners trotted over the rubber. Fry was completely demoral-ized before the contest concluded, and well he might be, for besides his having to combat with the Bluebirds' heavy sitck-work he had a support which at times was awfully weak, and six bad and costly errors were made by them. One of the half dozen was made, though, by Fry bluesiff.

GILLEN'S GOOD WORK. Gillen did the twirling for Richmond, and he was far more successful than was Fry, for only nine hits were made off him, and these were well scattered. Some of them, however, were pretty hard raps, and the nine strokes netted fifteen bases. Gillen was not a bit disturbed by bases. Gillen was not a bit disturbed by this, and continued to hold the Goats under his control. He was not supported as well as he might have been, though the five errors made by his fleiders were not

The Washington Evening News has this o say of Virginia boys:
"It behooves Earl Wagner to make a great tour of inspection in the Virginia state League. "The News is in a position to know that there are some pretty fast youngsters in that league, and the chances are more than even that some of them could more than hold their own in the big circuit. "Norfolk has a rattling good short-stop in Corcoran and the making of a fine "I'd baseman in Harry O'Hagan. Scha-bel, of the Lynchburgs, would tnake an excellent running mate for McGuire, and roung Fultz, of the Roanokes, will some day be one of the star fielders of the country. There is only one pitcher in that circuit worth trying now that Kid Fore-man and big Orth have been captured by the big league. His name is Tannehill and his address is Richmond."

NORFOLK AND LYNCHBURG. Ames Was Wild and Was Hit Very

Hard. NORFOLK, VA., September 6.-(Special.)-Because Ames was wild and be-cause he was hit very hard Lynchburg lost to Norfolk again this afternoon. Weeks pitched a superb game until the eighth inning, up to which time only eighth inning, up to which time only three hits had been made. He then let down a little, and Berryhill and MoIntyre drove two good ones over the fence. The Hill-Climbers fielded beautifully, while the work of the locals was somewhat ragged. In fact, had they not used their sticks so effectively, the result would have been different.

Berryhill protested the game in the third inning, on account of a decision of the umpire. He hit to O'Hagan, who fumbled, and Corcoran, securing the ball,

THE COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE STILL REVISING ORDINANCES.

Licenses Imposed on Circuses and Jugglers-The Sinking Fund Chapters-Absolute Necessity for a New Jail-Col. Branch Resigns.

The two branches of the City Council convened last night as the Committee of the Whole for the purpose of considering the revised city ordinances. President Turpin, of the Board of Aldermen, was in the chair, and Mr. Alexander Coke, the codifier, recorded, while Sergeant-at-Arms R. R. Ralston read the ordinances. While the licenses were being considered it was decided, on motion of Mr. Briggs, that the license of circus be fixed at $30 for each performance, while the license for jugglers was fixed at $10 per week.

On motion of Mr. Davis, the subject of selling land for delinquent taxes was referred to the City Attorney, with a view of preparing an ordinance protecting the city against any cost. THE SINKING FUND.

The chapters concerning the sinking fund and the owning of stock by the city in Joint stock companies were agreed upon without any changes. No changes of any consequence were suggested to the chapter concerning the jurisdiction of the Committee on Grounds and Bulldings.

When the chapter in regard to the city cemeteries was being considered Mr. Davis offered an amendment providing that Shockoe Hill Cemetery be opened to the public from 9 A. M. to 6 P. M. After derable discussion the amendment was agreed to.

The Committee on the Whole then adjourned until next Monday night at 7:00 o'clock, when the chapter concerning the City Gas-Works will be taken up. THE NEW JAIL MATTER.

MR. NELSON'S OVERDRAFT.

His Cheeks Honored for Large Amounts at the State Bank.

There are absolutely no new developments in the matter of the large overdraft at the State Bank, which was made public yesterday, and which has cost Mr. Richard W. Cardweil, a trusted bookkeeper in that institution, his position and property.

The discrepancy, though discovered August 1st, did not become known outside the bank until some time thereafter, and the bank until some time thereafter, and was not made public until yesterday. The Dispatch was ndvised of it, however, some ten days ago, when it first became noised about in banking circles.

It appears that the amount involved was considerable, being over $20,000, and though Mr. Cardwell, who was building himself a house in the West End, and his mother have transferred all of their property towards liquidating the indebtedness to the bank, a deficit of about, it is said, $13,000 still remains. said, $12,000 still remains.

MR. NELSON'S CHECKS,

The discrepancy occurred in the account of Mr. Samuel B. Nelson, the well-known horse-dealer, at No. 1319 cast Franklin street. Mr. Cardwell permitted Mr. Nel-cognizant of it that gentleman had dra out over $20,000 more than he had dep out over $20,000 more than he had deposited. He also has made good a part of the deficiency.

Both Messra, Cardwell and Nelson were questioned by the officials of the bank, and as hest they could made explanations. Mr. Cardwell claimed that the trouble had occurred from an error in his accounts, which made it appear that there was a balance to the credit of Mr. Nelson when really he had no funds in the bank.

KEPT NO STUBS.

Mr. Nelson asserted that he kept no stude of his checks, and therefore had no means of knowing how his accounts glood. heans of knowing how his acceptance is he continued to make deposits and all its checks were duly honored.

Captain Wise, when seen last night, was busily engaged on the petition, getting it ready for presentation next Thursday. He paused long enough, however, to discuss the probabilities of a new trial, and said that he was sanguine of success. He said that the petition was based on such authorities that Judge Coleman could not fail to see the justice of the plea, and would, he thought, certainly grant the writ. This would practically mean a new trial, but not necessarily an acquittal. At all events, the writ of error would mean a stay of execution for several an a stay of execution for several
